Nicolaus Copernicus

Last week, we went to the Nicolaus Copernicus House Museum in Toruń with my school. It was really interesting. It's really two houses, not one and there is lots to see. Copernicus's father was rich and he owned the houses in the 15th century. They are really beautiful old buildings in the centre of town.

I learned a lot about Copernicus. He was very clever and he spoke five languages, including Polish and he studied lots of subjects. After he finished school, he went to university in Krakow and studied mathematics, geometry and astronomy. He then went to Italy and studied mathematics, law and medicine in Bologna, Ferrara and Padua. When he returned to Poland he worked for his uncle. He was a Bishop and Copernicus was his doctor and secretary.

After his uncle died in 1512, Copernicus moved to Frauenburg. He continued working for the church but he also wrote about physics and studied the stars and space. He became famous because he made an important discovery – the sun is the centre of the universe not the earth.

geometry – geometria
astronomy – astronomia
law – prawo
physics – fizyka
century – stulecie
medicine – medycyna
